

Accelerating the Fintech Revolution: Blockchain, Cryptocurrency, and Central Bank Digital Currency

by Dr. Jiaying Jiang

Assistant Professor of Law, University of Florida Levin College of Law Hauser Global Fellow, New York University School of Law

DATE: Saturday, April 16, 2022

TIME: 9:00-10:00 am (HST)

Dr. Jiaying Jiang will talk about FinTech focusing on Central Bank Digital Currencies (CBDC), cryptocurrencies, and blockchain technology in general.

She will discuss the following topics:

- What are the biggest issues created by the use of cryptocurrencies?
- What are the regulatory objectives when it comes to regulating the crypto industry?
- What is the current regulatory landscape of the crypto industry?
- What is the current state of CBDCs?
- What are the legal and policy implications of CBDCs?

RSVP here to register in advance for this meeting or email Keira @ keiraly@hawaii.edu

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing the Zoom Link for the presentation.

Dr. Jiaying Jiang (LLB, Shenzhen University School of Law; LLM, University of Southern California, Gould School of Law; SJD, Emory University School of Law) is an Assistant Professor of Law at the University of Florida Levin College of Law and a Hauser Global Fellow at New York University School of Law. Her research focuses on the interaction between law and technology, particularly in the areas of policies and regulations on emerging technologies, such as artificial intelligence, fintech, blockchain, cryptocurrencies, and central bank digital currencies. She is a member of the bars in China and New York.

MODERATED BY:

Ms. Chloe Berridge is a 1L at William S. Richardson School of Law with an interest in criminal law, as well as FinTech. She is from Pennsylvania and graduated from Suffolk University in Boston in 2020. Her interest in FinTech stems from blockchain technology and its potential applications to the practice of law and everyday life, as well as the regulatory treatments surrounding it.